Now, as his experience grew over the six decades, He can make a bow in 14-hours. "I learned from all the elders around me. When I asked my grandparents, who could teach me how to make bows and arrows, they told me names of who to go. My grandma took me around to our relatives like the Potos, Pulsedells and Pekahs, they showed me how to get the dogwood, how to treat them, and I just learned by talking to them as I grew up."

Pekah said he began hearing feedback in bow and arrow making, he created his own. He said he made so many over the decades, he found his way to make his details unique. "You have to strip it, wash the grain, trim it down to your desire, and work with it," he said. "There are some Comanche that still make bows, but a lot of the old bow makers are gone, like Old Bow Maker."

The Vocational Rehabilitation
Approved for Grant: Sept. 14, Disability
Awareness Day

The Comanche Nation Vocational Rehabilitation Program is happy and proud to announce that the Comanche Nation Vocational Rehabilitation Program’s Federal grant application has been approved for five years. It is a competitive grant process; only a few programs were approved.

The Voe Rehab Program has been in existence since September 2010, assisting people with disabilities as they job-search, attend school, training, or to maintain employment. A disability is an impairment that is physical or mental, such as an amputation or mental illness, and an impediment interferes with regular functioning: Impairment - Impediment = Disability.

On September 14, the Vocational Rehabilitation will have a Disability Awareness Day at the Comaachte Nation Complex, Wetukander Hall. The fry will be cut soon.

The Voe Rehab has also moved to the Eddi Kasvarool garden assisted-living Center. 1001 SE 36 Street, Lawton, Oklahoma 73501. The entrance is on the south east corner of the building. Their phone number, email, and fax number has not changed.

The staff consists of Matilda Rose Lonavaya, Director; Elaine Antoine and Gina Bulldogs, Counsel-ers; and Leonard Parker.

Property tax has served as a method of funding government functions since its inception. Typically, it is used to support federal and state operations like infrastructure, schools, first responders and other essential services. Unless your home is located on trust land, you are required to pay taxes on your property in order to maintain ownership.

Property Tax vs. Income Tax

Property taxes are different from income taxes. Although they serve the same purpose of funding federal, state and local operations, they are not collected in Osage-way, as income taxes. In every U.S. state, these payments are collected by the county instead of the state.

Cost and Payment Deadlines

The deadline for property taxes vary by location. State regulations and the property’s value will determine how much is owed and when it’s due. Oklahoma’s property taxes are among the lowest in the nation and based solely on the value of the property.

When paying property taxes, Oklahoma residents must adhere to the state’s deadlines to avoid delinquency.

1. The county treasurer will send out the property tax bill at the end of November each year.

2. Property taxes are collected in two installments. The first half must be paid by Dec. 31 and the last half is due on March 31.

3. If no payment has been re- ceived by the Dec. 31 deadline, the account will become delinquent on Jan. 1.

Delinquency

If you do not pay property taxes by their due date, the overdue amount becomes a lien against the property. It cannot be paid off in full and the deed is transferred to someone else.

If the account is delinquent for three or more years, the resident is at risk of losing the home. The lien makes the property act as collateral for the debt, allowing the county to sell the home through a tax sale process or auction to collect the amount owed. The resident no longer has ownership rights to the property and must vacate. This is a serious consequence and costly - at this point, the home is sold for no longer belongs to you.

The consequences for not paying property taxes can be dire, which is why a paid in full and on time. This scenario can be avoided through checking your property tax account and paying payments are submitted. To pay for property taxes or check the tax status of the account, Oklahoma residents can find their specific county’s website by visiting www.propertytax.com. Once the county is selected, residents can log in to the county treasurer’s website. Residents can then enter in their personal and property information to view their account balance and pay online or via check.

If you have any questions regarding property taxes or CNHA’s lease-to-own programs, call (580) 357-4956 or visit www.comanchehousing.com.

Meet the Comanche Little Ponies Princess

Grasen Lizzim Yellowfish is a 4-year-old, sixth grade student at Sovereign Charter School in Oklahoma City. She is a University wrestler and belongs to the Ewashah band but is also descended from the Nokas, Fowkase and Kiowapotos bands of the Comanche Nation. Yellowfish is the daughter of Edion and Loretta Yellowfish. She is the granddaughter of Edward and Sylvia Yellowfish. She is the granddaughter of the late Edward Yellowfish and Comella Delfine in Yellowfish of the Otoe-Missouria Tribe, as well as the late Thomasine Green Moore of the Osage Nation and Sue & Fox Nation of Missouri, and the late Theodore Moore, Sr., of the One Muscogee Tribe, as well as the Pawnee Nation respectively.

Her great-grandpa, Edward Yellowfish, was one of the original founders of the Little Ponies when it was recognized in (approximately) 1974. Her Grandfather, Edward, has been actively dancing with the Little Ponies since the age of 16 (48 years), as well as her father, Edison, and both of her uncles, Easton and Edion.

Yellowfish studies ballet pointe and has performed in Oklahoma Ballet’s Nutcracker. She performed a modern dance routine in the First American Museum’s grand opening and has served as a background ac- tor for a commercial. She also loves reading, dancing, painting, and is on the cross-country team for Severn.

It is a great honor for Yel- lowfish to represent the Comanche Little Ponies, an organization dear to her and the entire Yellowfish family. She would like to welcome everyone on this year’s Comanche Nation Fair!

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME! This year Student Services’ Annual Back to School event combined with the Comanche Nation’s Law Enforcement’s Cops & Kids event. The event was held on July 30, at the Comanche Complex, north of Lawton. “I really like the idea of having the event on a Saturday, due to parents work hours during the week,” said Gwen Pesewonit, Director of Student Services. CIVA Activities

The Comanche Indian Veterans Association, Princess, and Auxiliary along with Bubba Sovo, received an invitation from Comanche Nation Tribal member, Rev. Marvin Delaware, to be a part of Veterans Recognition at the Annual Church Camp at Indian Falls Creek near Davis, Oklahoma. The Veterans Recognition was going to be held on August 2. This was also Comanche night as Comanche hymns will be sung by members of the Davis Mission Baptist Church.

Before the start of the event, CIVA Veterans, Princess, Auxiliary along with Bubba Sovo, Robert Te- hano, Berky Monevsky were invited to have a meal at Rev. Delaware Church cabin. The meal was a re- leasing in order to conduct over any last-minute details before the start of processional.

At 7 p.m., the Veterans Recognition ceremony began with the drum & singers Bubba Sovo, Robert Tehano and Berky Monevsky were center stage and provided a song as the CIVA Color Guard, Princess and Auxiliary led the procession along with various Native American Veterans Organizations. Among those Veterans Organization present were the Seminole Nation Color Guard, Creek Nation Color Guard, Cherokee Nation Color Guard, Absentee Shawnee Color Guard, Native and Non-Native American Veterans followed the pro- cession and cheered on by the church congregation. All in attendance were standing, cheering, and applauding and being respectful to all the veter- ans as they passed.

Once on stage and after the CIVA Flag Song, CIVA Com- mander, Kevin Pohawpatchoko posted The American Flag. After the posting of the American Flag, the veterans in attendance were formally recognized for their service to God and Country. Church congregation again began acknowledging the vet- erans by standing, cheering, and applauding and shook the hands and patted each veteran on the back. Af- ter the veterans recognition, all the organizational and veteran services were retired, as the evening church sermon began.

CIVA was formally praised by Rev. Delaware for helping and as- sisting in the Veterans Recognition & Appreciation and in representing the veterans and the Comanche Nation.
